TWENTIETH CENTURY MANUAL OF RAILWAY STATION SERVICE

By FRED L. MEYER.

While the subject matter has been especially prepared as a TEXT BOOK for young men who wish to become properly equipped station, freight, ticket, and baggage agents, it also makes a strong appeal to the older men already in the service who are ever seeking to become more efficient in the performance of their duties. It is also a work which will be quickly appreciated by the general public, the jobber, the shipper, or any man who pays freight, on account of the unusual amount of highly valuable information it contains, which has never before been put in book form.

Printed from large, clear type, on extra heavy paper, and substantially bound in a rich dark blue ribbed cloth, 8vo, size 6 x 9 inches, illustrated with full-page facsimile reproductions of railroad forms and reports.

Price, $1.25, postpaid.
